SUMMARY

25X1A

25X1A

25X1A

Bobruysk Petroleum Storage West (BE No [REDACTED] Bobruysk Petroleum Storage PUG [REDACTED], and Bobruysk Army Depot Northwest [REDACTED] are located in the western part of the town of Bobruysk.

The Petroleum Storage West and the Army Depot Northwest are served by spurs from the Bobruysk-Minsk rail line. The Petroleum Storage PUG is adjacent to the Bobruysk Rail Yard West but is not directly rail served. All three areas are connected to the road network of Bobruysk. Bobruysk Army Barracks West (AL-1) is located 1.5 kilometers (km) west of the storage areas and Bobruysk Army Barracks and Headquarters, 22nd Tank Division, Citadel (AL-2) is 4 km east.

Bobruysk Petroleum Storage West, a secured area, covers 12 acres and contains 12 POL storage tanks and one administration building, one storage building, and three small support buildings.

Bobruysk Petroleum Storage PUG, a secured area, covers 48 acres and contains at least two buried POL storage tanks, two storage buildings and four support buildings.

Bobruysk Army Depot Northwest, a secured area, covers 42 acres and contains 18 storage buildings and five support buildings.

The three areas were covered by [REDACTED] ENT missions in [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] KEYHOLE missions between [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]. Significant changes observed include:

1) Petroleum Storage West -- the addition of one very large tank approximately 100 feet in diameter, three large [REDACTED] tanks, and two medium [REDACTED] tanks encircled by a road. One of the 20-foot tanks, the five [REDACTED] tanks and the four [REDACTED] tanks reported on Army DPIR 296-57 are not visible on KEYHOLE photography. The [REDACTED] tank reported in Army DPIR 296-57 as buried is now confirmed as a completed above ground vertical tank.

2) Petroleum Storage PUG -- no significant changes observed. None of the [REDACTED] pod-type tanks visible on [REDACTED] TALENT photography are discernible on KEYHOLE photography. Only two of the four buried tank scars reported in Army DPIR 296-57 are observed.

3) Army Supply Depot Northwest -- four storage buildings have been constructed and the depot has been enlarged by eight acres.

DESCRIPTION OF INSTALLATION

Railroad Service

Area G1 contains one rail spur. Area E contains two spurs with four 160-foot track-side docks alongside storage buildings.

No pumping facilities are observed along the rail line or in the POL areas.

Road Service

All installations are connected by all-weather access roads to the streets of Bobruysk.

General Storage Area

Area E (Bobruysk Army Supply Depot NW)

contains 18 storage (four added between [REDACTED] and five support buildings.

POL Storage Areas

Area G1 (Bobruysk Petroleum Storage West) contains one 100-foot tank (added between [REDACTED]), three [REDACTED] tanks (added between [REDACTED]), three [REDACTED] tanks (two added between [REDACTED]), five [REDACTED] tanks, one administration building, one storage building, and three support buildings.

Area G2 (Bobruysk Petroleum Storage West) contains two [REDACTED] buried tanks, two storage buildings and four support buildings.
